

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mixture containing a bioactive agent and one or more biodegradable polymers for use as a biodegradable implant is described. Different ratios of semi-crystalline to amorphous polymers in the mixture provide for different release profiles of the bioactive agent from the implant. This system allows tailoring of the release profile by control of the composition of the implant.